A SINGULAR STORY.

The following curious narrative, told as being strictly true, is from the March number of the Water Cure Journal. Its details will remind the reader of the Scottish second-sight, of which we have so many examples:

I was at school a close student, a young ambitious lad of sixteen, somewhat homespun but strong in uprightness, and conscious of power.—My dear father was sick and gradually undergoing that grand metempsychosis which the shallow thinker calls Death. It was a stormy day in January, the snow had fallen two feet deep, when I started for my home, eight miles distant. My father had written me that he wanted to see me, he wanted to look into my face—he wanted to give me injunction after injunction not to forget my duties to him in the care of his Wife, my mother. He need not have said it. I could not—I never can forget him or her. Death! A man such as my father never dies. He lives in his counsels full of wisdom as they were of heart, in his examples ripe from wide observation and varied experiment, constituting ample experience; in his principles, which were absolute, as great moral truths are; in his very mistakes, which were very few and were not small. His desire to see me, growing out of a feeling that he might, at any hour, "pass onward," and to give me counsel, were natural, but not necessary. But his slightest wish was law to me, and I started for home, as I have said, on foot. Weary walk, this trudging in an unbroken snow path. Before I reached our door, I thought my body would tire out completely—but it did not—I accomplished it.

I ate my supper, chatted awhile with my parents and went to bed in my old bedroom. My father and mother I left sitting in the Kitchen, gratified at my arrival, and proud of me.

I fell asleep—awoke, and took a seat between my father and mother. They looked surprised, and enquired why I had left my bed.

Said I, "has nobody been here since I went to bed?"

"No."

"Has nobody been trying to injure you, father? Has no one demanded money of you?"

"No."

"Well," replied I, "there will somebody come, and that is why I have left my bed; at least I have dreamed there would, and the dream is no illusion to me, but a fierce reality."

My father smiled as if incredulous, yet as though he asked no braver or better defender than his boy. At that instant my mother, a very cautious woman, heard a rap at the door, and stepping to it as I supposed to enquire who was there, and what was wanted, opened the door, and in came a terrible gust of wind and snow—for the night was hideous,—and with them marched in a woman.

She walked half way from the door to the fire, when she discovered me, and I evidently took her aback by my presence. I saw this at a glance, I saw the creature of my dream. I knew I was destined to struggle, and I grew in strength as I looked at my dear father and mother. She took a chair, turned it back to the fire, and seated herself with her face in the shadow. I kept my seat and appeared to give no attention to her.

"Who are you?" inquired my father.

"What's that to you?" said she.

"Everything, if you are to stay in my house, nothing, if you are not."

"What if I will not tell you?"

"Then you must leave the house."

"Leave the house!" exclaimed she, "I should like to see any one here try to put me out!"

"What if I call my men and throw you out neck and heels?"

"You have not got any men, they have all gone home."

"How do you know?"

"I inquired at the last house on the road before I came here. It is Saturday night—and I was told your laborers all went home Saturday night, and that you lived alone."

I glanced at my father—he was pale, but his courage ebbed not a whit. He was helpless, not able to get out of his chair, and he surmised strange occurrences, for he had recieved not less than eighteen hundered dollars that very week by his large wheat sales, and he saw what was before him. This hag was either a decoy or a man in disguise, whose purpose was robbery.

I could see all this was very rapidly passing through my father's mind, but it did not bow him the ninth part of an inch. So I sat still as if I suspected nothing but a war of words; the hag had on an old quilted hood and an old bombazine cloak which came to her feet and was belted about the body.

"You are a woman," said father.

"Of course I am, what do you ask that question for?"

"You have a husband?"

"Yes."

"Where does he live?"

"In Truxton."

"Well, then, if you have a husband, why do you not live at home, instead of gadding about such nights as this, alone—a night fit only for fiends to be abroad?"

"Why don't you set the North River on fire?" said she, leaping from her chair and springing towards my father, and hissing through her teeth, "I'll teach you why I am here."

My mother screamed and ran, my father made an ineffectual attempt to get out of the way, but instantly yielded, resolved to take what awaited him, and I was out of my seat as quick as the hag. As she passed me on her way to grapple my father, I struck her with my fist a blow under the ear, which, but for her old cotton hood, would have knocked her down. As it staggered her, it gave me time to get the chairs out of the way, and gather myself for a fight.

She recovered, and looking at me a moment, said as if in a soliloquy. 'Oh! you choose to cross my track, do you? Well d—n me if I do not settle you pretty quick,' and thrusting her hand into her cloak, made as if she would draw a dagger. The motion maddened me; it bro't foam to my lips; I struck her a half dozen blows as quick as lightning, she let her dagger go and clinched me—her gripe satisfied me that I had found my match, eye, more, in strength, and that my skill as a boxer, and my almost unequalled ability as a wrestler, must save me.

I had learned pugilism of a clever English teacher, and at wrestling to that day I had never been thrown. I knew, when I felt the gripe, that I was dealing with a man. I felt that my father and mother were relying on me and I grew strong as I before said. We closed, grasped and let loose, struck and parried, clenched and wrestled, till at various attempts we found ourselves to what wrestlers call a "side hold." I got the "under arm," and I lifted him—for it was no longer her—over my hip, threw my leg around his and tripped him. He fell on the floor like a log. I intended to break his bones, but he unhooked his cloak—it had become unbelted in the struggle—and leaped up like a cat. His cloak and woman-hood fell off together. I struck him before he was balanced, staggered him, grappled my left hand into his throat, and struck him again—called on my mother to open the door; and as she did, I pushed him and kicked him out. He swore he would be the death of me. I told him to take himself out of the State or I would put the sheriff on his track, and shutting the door in his face, walked to my father.

"My son," said he, "kneel down," and I did, and my mother was by my side, and my brother, a boy younger than myself who had awakened, and crept out into the kitchen, was also there, and father prayed God for his blessings, and thanked Him for our safety, and blessed me for my coolness and bravery, and we all went to bed.

Now, let your doubters tell me how I came to see this matter beforehand. This very hooded and cloaked man. I had seen and heard his threats to my father, had struggled with him, and conquered him in my dream, before he came into the house, and had awakened and left my bed to go and see after my father's safety, and to conquer him again in the kitchen.—All the main features of the occurrence were made known to me before they took place, and by the impression they made on me enabled me, I doubt not, to save my parents' lives. This incident differs from the others in this, that what I was conscious of in one state, was common to the other. It was an act of prevision. I could make a book of such incidents in my own life.

Let these suffice to satisfy the reader, as far as my testimony goes, of the truth of the position, that persons, whilst in the body, are not always subject to material causes or motives, as prompters of activity.

THE LIFE OF GENERAL SCOTT.

We have just received several thousand copies of the LIFE OF GENERAL SCOTT. It is a document which ought to be placed in the hands of every Voter in Wisconsin. No time should be lost in distributing the work, far and wide throughout our State. We again urge the friends of SCOTT & GRAHAM to take immediate steps to secure this object. Copies of the work will be furnished at New York prices, adding only transportation, viz:—3½ cents per dozen, and $2 25 per hundred. We suggest to our country friends that they make arrangements to get their supply by private hand, as the postage is two cents per copy.

MILWAUKEE, Aug 12.

CHANGE OF TIME.—Our whig friends will notice the change by the Congressional Committee in the time of holding the Convention.

FOTAYE ON THE Treasury.

The News owns up to the hope its party friends entertain of obtaining "control of the public treasury." But it is to be done, of course, for the good of the dear people; as thus:

"They think that fifty millions a year is rather expensive for a Republican Government in a time of profound peace, and they propose, by electing Gen. Pierce, to reduce the amount some twenty millions of dollars, or in other words, to about what has been the usual cost of government under democratic administrations."

"Tell that to the Marines." The PEOPLE know, if the News dont, that no administration, Whig or Democratic, can spend the public money any faster than Congress appropriates it, and that Congress can limit the annual expenditures to precisely such sum as the majority sees fit. They know too, however the News may seek to conceal the fact, that under the present administration, both branches of Congress have been always largely Democratic. If therefore the "annual cost of government" has been fifty MILLIONS a year, and that too, "in a time of profound peace," the whole responsibility for this extravagant expenditure attaches to the Democratic majority in Congress.—They and the whole control of the public treasury themselves. They could raise, or reduce the annual cost as they pleased. And, according to the News, they have run it up to the unnecessary amount of FIFTY MILLIONS A YEAR! It is all very well to promise reduction in the future. That is a very common trick with those who have practiced extravagance in the past. But let the people be warned in season. Those spendthrifts with only two thirds of the Legislative power in their hands, have swelled the Federal expenditures to fifty millions per annum. Judge what they would do if they had President as well as Congress, to aid in their forays upon the public treasury!

There is another point for the West to consider. Out of these FIFTY MILLIONS a year which the News tells us our Democratic Congress has been squandering, how much has been appropriated for the especial benefit of the West? Not a dime! During all these years of a Democratic Congress, not one single cent has been given to improve the Harbors and Rivers and protect the Commerce of the West. And we have Mr. PIERCE'S platform, principles and own votes for it, that if he is elected, even tho' the Federal Expenditures should be swelled to SEVENTY MILLIONS a year, the West will get nothing. He will veto all River and Harbor Bills "as surely as there is a sun in heaven." Is this the man for the West?

The News, in conclusion, facetiously remarks that "it is proper to say that the Sentinel's old friend Galphin is not among the number of those who hope to have the Democrats "obtain control of the public Treasury."

The Sentinel does'nt know of any "old friend," or young one either, of that name. It remembers however, very distinctly, to have heard of one GALPHIN, who was born of a Loco Foco Congress and adopted by Secretary R. J. WALKER. And if it be true that he don't wish the democrats to obtain control of the Treasury, it is doubtless because he fears that they will prove more expert thieves than himself and leave him nothing to steal. Perhaps he is right. At any rate, it behooves the People to bar the doors of the Treasury against the whole tribe of GALPHINS, GARECHES, PRICES, BORDS and SWARTOUTS, and they may rest assured that, with WINFIELD SCOTT in the White House, not one of the predatory crew will get the first sight of their accustomed plunder.

THE YACHT AMERICA.—As a matter of general interest we publish this morning the account, from the London Times, of the Yacht race last month in England which resulted in the defeat of the far-famed America. The cause of that defeat is sufficiently obvious. During most of the race the America had not wind enough to fill her sails. So long as she did, as the report shows, she beat both of her competitors, hand over hand. The Yachts which came out ahead of her were both much smaller vessels than the America, and of course got along better with a light breeze. The Zephyrette, which is just the America's size and tonnage, was beaten by her half an hour;

SCOTT VOLUNTEERS.

The Headquarters on Wisconsin Street will be open this evening, it being the regular time of meeting of the Volunteers. The Scott men will be on hand to talk over matters, listen to addresses, songs, and encourage each other for the conflict.

The Hollanders and the Harbors,

We find in the Volksfreund of the 12th, an article which commences as follows:

"Our neighbor across the street told its readers some time ago, that the Hollanders of Michigan had come out unanimously for Gen. Scott for President."

That this assertion, having reference to the Sentinel, is false, our readers all know. It is, however, only one among many instances of the manner in which the Volksfreund follows its party leaders in circulating misrepresentations.

Taking the false statement above quoted as a target, our candid neighbor fires at it with an extract from the Hollander, a Loco Foco paper printed in Michigan. Says this latter paper:

"During all the term of the present Whig Administration, the Hollanders of this settlement have been quietly expecting and hoping, but without getting the least support from the Administration, for the building of a harbor at Black Lake, &c."

The Whig Administration did all it could do to secure the appropriation, by recommending it, and the Whig members voted for it. Out of 72 Whigs voting, 59 of them were for the bill; while out of 102 Locos voting, 62 were against. If our friends the Hollanders" think they are likely to make any thing out of such friends, let them go on.

A MISTAKE.—A correspondent of the Fond du Lac Democrat, writing from Washington, says, with regard to the River and Harbor Bill:

I noticed a settled determination on the part of New England members, to kill all such appropriations; they want all the money Government has to spare, to be expended among themselves.

This does injustice to New England, and especially to the Whigs of New England. There were 31 members of the House for those States composed as follows: Whigs 16, Loco Focos 12, Free Soilers 3.

The record of the vote on the bill referred to shows the following:—In favor; 12 Whigs, 5 Locos, 2 Free Soilers (Messrs. Mann and Tuck) ——Against; 5 Locos (including Messrs. PEASLEE and HIBBARD of New Hampshire)—Absent; 4 Whigs, 2 Locos, 1 Free Soil.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES.—Mr. Evans, the present whig Congressman from Maine, and an original Scott man, was lately beaten in a whig convention before which he was a candidate for re-nomination, by S. P. Benson. His successful competitor is a Webster man, and supports Scott—over the left.—Morning News.

Now don't! Won't the News tell its readers what district "Mr. Evans, the present Whig Congressman from Maine," represents? And after having ascertained that, won't it look to some authentic source, and find that Mr. Evans' name was presented without his consent or wish, and that the whig candidate is a genuine Scott man, and nothing else. Do something creditable for once, neighbor!

And while you are about it read and digest the following resolution, passed unanimously by that identical Convention:

Resolved, That Gen. WINFIELD SCOTT, being the choice first, last, and always, of the Whigs of this district, for the highest office in this great Republic, his nomination by the Whig National Convention is received by them with feelings of unmingled pleasure and satisfaction.

Resolved, That we have entire confidence in the integrity, patriotism, and unwavering adherence to whig principles, of the Hon. George Evans. That as a member of Congress he has ever been the able, fearless, and invincible advocate of the true interests of the country—that as a delegate to the late Baltimore convention, he was the faithful representative of the whigs of Maine, carrying out their wishes and fulfilling their hopes.

CONSIDERATE.—It seems that the jokes, relative to General Pierce's unfortunate and successive fainting fits in Mexico, have not originated in this campaign. The following is a copy of a handbill posted in the streets of Manchester, N. H., on the day when he was to pass through that place on his way "home from the wars." Of course no one then dreamed that Gen. Pierce would ever be the democratic candidate for President:—

"The agents of the several corporations in this city are earnestly requested to prohibit their contractors from blasting any stone, on Thursday, the 27th inst., while the cars containing the remains of the gallant Pierce, who fell in the attack upon the city of Mexico, are passing thro' the city, lest in consequence of some constitutional difficulty the General should faint again."

INDEPENDENT JUDICIAL CONVENTION.—We notice a call in circulation about our city, inviting the electors of Milwaukee, without distinction of party, to meet in their respective Assembly Districts on the 28th instant, and select Delegates to a State Convention, to be held in Madison on the 1st day of September next, to nominate an Independent ticket for the Supreme Court. The call is already very numerously signed and by men of all parties. It will probably be published to-morrow. Similar calls, we learn, are in circulation in various parts of the State.

In this connection it may be proper to state, inasmuch as doubts have been expressed whether Judge WHITON would consent to run for Chief Justice, that we are authorized to say that he will accept a nomination should any considerable portion of the people of the State desire it.

BLIND OF ONE EYE.—The News is very positive that there was no "local issue" in North Carolina to explain the not very astonishing circumstance of the re-election of a Loco Foco Governor. It is equally positive, on the other hand, that it was nothing but a local issue which produced the "unlooked-for" and unpalatable result in Iowa. We have no special objection to the News' indulging its fancy, in speculating over both results, inasmuch as the November election will leave it little occasion and still less inclination, for such innocent amusements.

☞ Senator J. P. HALE, in his letter declining the Free Soil nomination for the Presidency, says:—

"I have no doubt that the defeat of the Democratic party four years since, did the party great good, but it was too thoroughly debauched, corrupted and polluted by its long and close alliance with, and subserviency to slavery, to be radically cured at once."

Mr. HALE, tho' unwilling to receive the nomination himself, avows his purpose of supporting the Pittsburgh ticket.

DIFFERENCES AMONG WHIGS.—The Sentinel, in order to carry favor with the Freesoilers of this district, is snubbing the St. Louis Republican, and the other Scott journals of St. Louis, for opposing Col. Benton.—Wisconsin.

A silly but harmless fabrication. The Sentinel has not said one word about the St. Louis Republican, or other Scott journals in that city opposing Col. BENTON.

CONNECTICUT BANKING LAW.—The new Banking Law of Connecticut authorizes the use of Boston and New York City, and all the City Bonds of Connecticut, as a basis of Banking, in addition to Federal, New York, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Ohio and Virginia State Stocks. The six per cent Bonds of the city of Hartford, about to be given to the Hartford and Providence Rail Road, are in consequence wanted at a premium of full 5 ⅌ ct.

ALL RIGHT.—The Sheboygan Lake Journal frankly retracts its statement that the senior editor of this paper, while in charge of the Albany Daily Advertiser, had taken ground against allowing persons of foreign birth the rights and privileges of American citizenship. Nor does it, in rendering us simple justice in the premises, attempt to pettifog the question, or qualify the retraction, as the News and Volksfreund here did.—We thank the Journal for its fair dealing.

LIFE INSURANCE.—The Boston Atlas understands that the late Mr. Rantoul had his life insured in the British Life Insurance Co., in that city, for $10,000.

IOWA ELECTION.—The Galena Advertiser of the 11th confirms the reported election of Mr. Cook, Whig, to Congress—again.

Old Tammany and Gen. Scott.

Some time since, we took occasion to show how, in the olden and better days of the Tammany Society, its earnest efforts were put forth in favor of the protection of American Industry, going even so far as to recommend a total prohibition of the foreign article. That was in the year 1819. Only one year previous to that time, the Sachems were together, with a goodly company of other guests, holding high festival in commemoration of the sortie from Fort Erie, which took place 4 years previous. Gen. WINFIELD SCOTT presided, Gens. Brown, Miller, Ripley, and Porter were there, and many other distinguished gentlemen, in both civil and military walks of life. The hours were pleasantly spent in social converse; speeches were made, and toasts drank. The speeches have not been preserved, but the toasts are given in the papers of the day. We copy some of them:

Our Country.—While in the enjoyment of the blessings which it affords, let us not forget that it was rescued from the tyranny of Britain by the valor of our revolutionary patriots. We will defend its rights and honor. Yankee Doodle.

The Constitution of the United States.—Averse to all legitimacy that does not recognize the power as emanating from the people, the patriot soldier will ever find in it that display of gratitude against which its principles are unjustly accused of being militant. Hail Columbia.

The Profession of Arms.—A hazardous and rough road to distinction—although we delight in peace, we will ever rejoice in an opportunity of convincing our countrymen that the toils and difficulties of a soldier are his greatest pride, when they tend to his country's good. Gen. Scott's March.

Major General Jackson.—The hero of the South; he protected the "beauty" of his country, by defeating an enemy who claimed it as his "beauty;" may the gratitude of his country be commensurate with the important services he has rendered.—Jackson's March.

By Lieut. Col. Croghan (Gen. Scott having retired.) Maj. Gen. Winfield Scott—The soldier's head—his country's pride—"in battle a roaring storm—mild as the evening sun in peace."

Gen. Scott is still the "soldiers boast" and "his country's pride." See if the people do not testify their gratitude to him in November!

CONSUL FOR THE NETHERLANDS.—We are in receipt of the following card from Mr. G. VAN STEENWICK, our efficient State Emigration Agent in New York, with a request that the information be communicated to the public. Dr. SCHUSSLER is a gentleman well known to many of our citizens as being every way fitted to perform the duties of the consulship:

TO THE PUBLIC.

By the letter of F. Baron TESTA, Charge d'Affaires of the Netherlands in the U. S., dated New York, July 26th, 1852, the subscriber has been informed that His Ex., the Secretary of Foreign Affairs of the Netherlands, has appointed the appointment of Dr. L. C. C. SCHUSSLER, of Hartland, Waukesha Co., Wis., as Acting Consul of the Netherlands for the State of Wisconsin.

All business regarding this consulate must be directed henceforward to that gentleman.

G. VAN STEENWICK.

New York, July 20, 1852.

GOOD.—The Editor of the Kenosha Telegraph, a decided Freesoil paper, says:

We received, a few days since, to our personal address (postage unpaid) a circular from the head quarters of the Pierce and King Democracy, N. Y. City, which, among other matter personally interesting, contains the following voluntary testimony of the confidence placed in us by that estimable branch of our fellow citizens:

"You have been selected by the Special Council as the active and working Democrat of your district. Let us hear from you at once, and as often as possible."

The editor promises that the Pierce and King Democracy "shall hear from him as often as possible."

It is the best joke of the season.

IMPORTANT ENACTMENT.—Various provisions of law are to be found scattered among the numerous sections of the Deficiency Bill which has recently passed both Houses of Congress. One of them is the following, concerning payments to Indian tribes:

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That no part of the appropriations herein made for the benefit of any tribe or part of a tribe of Indians, shall be paid to any attorney or agent of such tribe or part of a tribe; but shall, in every case, be paid directly to the Indians themselves, to whom it shall be due, or to the tribe or part of a tribe, per capita, unless the imperious interest of the Indians shall require the payment to be made collectively. Nor shall the Executive branch of the Government thereafter recognize any contract between any tribe or part of a tribe and any attorney or agent, for the prosecution of any claim against the Government under this act.

A WET BLANKET.—The Sheboygan Lake Journal, a thorough-going "democratic" paper, speaks in the following terms of the Madison Party nominations for the Supreme Court:

If we should say that all the selections made by this convention are entirely satisfactory to ourselves, or to the Democracy in this vicinity, or that they are such as we can cheerfully support, we should stultify our honest sentiments, and state what we know to be untrue. The ticket, we think, would be cordially supported by Democrats, if it were respectably headed. It is undeniable, that the nominee for Chief Justice lacks age and experience, and is deficient in legal ability. He would add neither grace, nor dignity to the Bench. For this, the chief officer of the chief Court in the State, there should be selected a man at once respectable, dignified, and deeply read in the law—no stripling or pretender—no repudiator of ordinary business obligations. There are men in the democratic ranks possessing all the needed qualifications for this responsible trust, and some one of them ought to have been nominated.

☞ The Dodge Co. Gazette, remarking upon the recent Democratic nominations for the Supreme Court, says:

There are hundreds of democrats in the state who regretted very much to see a party nomination made, and are not at all backward in making it known. We hope see a nomination made independent of party politics, and if good and true men are brought forward, we have good reason to believe they would be elected by a large majority.

☞ The Janesville Democratic Standard has very little to say about the Madison party nominations for Judges of the Supreme Court, save this:

Judge Larabee was the only Circuit Court Judge who was nominated, and was not present. It is thought doubtful by many whether he will resign his present office and run against Judge WHITON, the Whig candidate for the office of Chief Justice, as there is a strong personal friendship existing between those two honorables.

"That same old coon that looks so fat,
How often have we slain!
And when we think him dead and gone,
Then up he pops again."

Well, he does!

WHIGGERY IN OHIO.—A call for a meeting to form a Scott Club in Columbus, on the 6th inst., was not responded to by a single individual. No one was present at the time appointed.—News.

And in ten minutes after, the room was crowded.

MORE STEAMERS.—The Sandusky Register says that arrangements have been completed for the construction of two first class steamers, to run between that place and Dunkirk and Buffalo, next season. They are to cost $300,000, and are intended to make the trip in 11 hours.

A MISTAKE RECTIFIED.—The Cincinnati Enquirer having made the statement, that Messrs. Mitchell & Rammelsberg had not a single Scott man in their employ, those gentlemen counted up and found there were 34 for Scott, 18 for Pierce, 4 Free Soilers, and 7 undecided.

☞ The Potosi Republican, (dem.) says: "In making a short circuit through the County, we find nearly every man in favor of independent candidates for the Judgeship; and the expression in favor of the re-election of Judge JACKSON is almost unanimous."

☞ The Whigs of the Walworth Co. districts mean to be on hand, in good season. See the call for one of their district Conventions at the head of our columns.

☞ The Wisconsin has not yet heard from Iowa. It still labors under the delusion that the "democracy" have swept the field there. The "lead-team" must be out of order.

The Yacht Race—The recent Regatta at Ryde.

From the London Times of the 24th.

RYDE, Friday Evening, July 23.

It would be difficult indeed to convey to the minds of persons at a distance from the spot anything like an adequate idea of the surprise which pervaded all classes on this island on the unexpected result of the race for her Majesty's Cup of 100 guineas, and the defeat of the late before unconquerable schooner and clipper America by one of the oldest cutters in the squadron. The extraordinary powers and swift sailing of the America, as witnessed last year both here and at Cowes, had given so strong an assurance of her success that the match had to a certain extent been stripped of its interest, and by the great majority of the yachtmen the competition for the prize was almost looked upon as a settled question. Therefore, the reverse of this has naturally excited the greater amount of astonishment. The winning vessel, which is the property of the Vice Commodore of the Royal Victoria Club, Thomas Chamberlayne, Esq., it is true, is not the Arrow of last year, for during the winter she has been lengthened at the bows, and otherwise improved, and many of these alterations were probably the result of suggestions which presented themselves from the appearance of the America, amongst the yachts of the British squadron. So far, she, in common with several other yachts, have profited by the American notions imported amongst them, with those from every other part of the world, during the eventful year of 1851. But it is gratifying, with all her previous performances, and the great prestige of her name, "The America," that, after making all our English yacht owners hide their diminished heads, and retire in dismay from the contest, on the same waters and with the most unpretending of the cutters of the Royal Victoria Club, the crack clipper has been compelled to accept a third place against her. The honor of the club has been nobly regained.

The preparatory gun was fired at half-past 10, and in about five minutes that was followed by one for sailing, and it was thought by some persons that the Mosquito had slipped her anchor before the second gun, but that is a statement which requires confirmation. However, immediately the starting gun was fired she was seen taking the lead, followed closely by the Arrow, the wind at the time blowing light from the north-west. They all canted round to the northward, with the exception of the America, which, through some misunderstanding on her part, went to the southward, and by this mistake she suffered a good deal of disadvantage in the loss of time, and the cutters that were on the right tack got a good start before her, and on rounding the Nab buoy the Mosquito, which was lying close astern, passed the America a little to the windward of her, on the starboard tack, and got round the Nab light one minute before her. From this point the Mosquito kept heading the Arrow a very little towards the White Cliff at the back of the island, which was now against flood tide. The whole of the yachts thus kept in shoreas far as it could be done with safety, until they got about a mile and half below the light, when the wind changed and got round to the west by south—a sort of "puffy" "dwilling" weather, by which a temporary advantage was alternately favorable to one and then to another, but it was most decidedly in favor of the Mosquito. What was of so much benefit to her brought all the rest dead to the leeward under her lee, as, being a much shorter vessel, the Mosquito took advantage of every puff of wind that came either from the bay or from the highlands. Another great thing in her favor was the power of being able to make short tacks quicker than the larger and longer vessels, and the Mosquito held a much better wind than the Arrow. The America held a good wind, but, being a large vessel and schooner-rigged, she was unable to get near to the Mosquito who met with the light breeze that just suited her. She had now her jibhead topsail set, and was so well handled that the America could not gain until after rounding St. Catherine's, when she began to overhaul the Arrow very fast from the lee on to the weather, besides closing her in, and rapidly passing her on her weather quarter abreast of Freshwater Bay. On rounding the Needles, the America was close astern of the Mosquito, but owing to her not finding so much wind as was expected in the Needles passage, and the Mosquito setting her large topsail and balloon jib, the America could but just hold good way with her, until getting towards Sconce Point, when the breeze stiffened from the northward, her sails began to draw, and she continued to overhaul the Mosquito very fast, and passed ahead under her lee abreast of Lymington Creek.

The America having now obtained the lead, the hopes of her friends were now revived that she would prove, as she had before, victorious over all competitors, and but little doubt was entertained that she would be the victor. She preserved the lead until she got abreast of Osborne-house, when the Arrow and Mosquito ran close astern of her, and beclosed her sails; at that time she was going dead before the wind. Each was able to answer their helm quicker than the America, and the wind being very light, a great advantage was obtained by the cutters, who had their large balloon topsails set, while the America, with but one small topsail, was not allowed, according to the regulation of the club, to set her maintopmast-studding sail. Consequently, she gave way, and was not able again to regain her leading position. It is stated, we know not with what truth, that the Arrow and Mosquito fouled during the round abreast of Peel Bank, midway between Old Castle Point and Ryde, by the Mosquito's boom dragging the larboard side of the Arrow. This may subject both yachts if proved, to very serious consequences, as the 18th regulation of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club states "Two yachts touching will both be disqualified, unless it can be clearly proved to the satisfaction of the committee which is the aggressor."

The following is the official return of the arrival of the yachts off the pier, as communicated to the commodore of the club:—

	H.	M.	S.
Arrow	6	59	30
Mosquito	6	59	31
America	7	1	00
Zephyretta	7	39	0

It will thus be seen that there was but one second difference between the arrival of the first and second vessels, and the guns from the Brilliant were so closely following each other that they were fired almost simultaneously. It was the general opinion of the persons on the pier that there was no perceptible difference between the Arrow and the Mosquito, and that the match would require to be sailed for again. The America was scarcely two minutes astern, and, although a beaten competitor, still the general feeling appears to be that had there been anything of a breeze she would have proved herself as dangerous a rival as when she originally came into these waters. The Zepyretta was so far astern that she was considered out of the match, and did not arrive for more than half an hour after the America.

PIERCE AND HIS BATTLES.—At a late meeting in one of the inland counties of this State, a young orator who thought he was pretty well posted up on what Gen. Pierce was, and where he came from, having studied the columns of the Free Press, and read the whole batch of hoorbacks that the N. Y. Evening Post has spawned over the State, mounted the rostrum and, having stated when and where Gen. Pierce was born, and related the candy anecdote, and showed that there was nothing in the career of Scott to compare with the whole souled generosity that prompted "the Statesman and the future warrior" to put his hand into his pocket and pull out that cent to console the disconsolate boy, whose name was entirely ignorant "that he was out," at last came to the warlike achievements of the General in Mexico.

Two or three plain-dressed, farmer-looking men, who had edged their way up to the speaker, then began to ask a few questions about the positions in which Pierce had gained his reputation. The first wanted to know where Pierce first "fit the greasers." "Why" says the orator, "at the bridges at the Puente Nacional." "Well," says the inquirer, how do you get around this letter of his to the commander? and he pulled out the President's message and accompanying documents, and turning over till he came to a mark, he read. "I have really encountered nothing that can be construed into serious resistance." "That's from Pierce's own letter to Gen. Scott, printed at page 95 of the appendix." The orator then exclaimed, "I will correct, my friend, but I guess you'll find the great warrior of New Hampshire won some laurels at the battle of Contreras I have you there old boy," says he slapping his hands down on the table, and going into a glorious eulogy on the way the American soldier leaped the entrenchments in the dark, and headed by Pierce, chased the Mexicans almost to the walls that surrounded the palaces of the Montezumas.—When he got to that, he stopped to take a drink, and the old farmer chimed in, "Young man, you hain't read the documents, I guess," and he opened his book at page 105, and read from Pierce's own report, as follows: "Being myself unable to keep my saddle or to walk, in consequence of a severe injury from a fall from my horse the day before, the command of my brigade devolved on Colonel Ransom." At that point the orator slammed down the tumbler and yelled out, "That's all a Whig lie!"

The old man looked at him over his spectacles for a minute, and said: "Young man, the president of the United States, James K. Polk, didn't send Whig lies into Congress along with his message. And if you don't know any thing about Pierce you might as well own up while you are in this company." Seeing the company all laughing at him, the poor fellow got a little ashamed of himself, and after looking around, he said: "I see I was sent here to make a Pierce and King speech, and I did not think there was any body out here in the woods that knowed or cared for old "fuss and feathers." The man at the Free Press told me "I could blaze away and say anything I was a mind to. And I have been posting myself up on the Free Press, and the documents sent out here by the New York Evening Post, and they do say that Gen. Pierce fit somewhere in the Mexican war, and that the critter was wounded.—But I can't tell you anything particular about his fighting, for I don't know nothing about it except what the democratic papers say. I don't know nothin."—Detroit Adv.

FIRE!

After a long and fortunate exemption our city was visited on Thursday night with a fire which, at the outset, threatened extensive mischief. It broke out, shortly after midnight, in the North west corner of LUDINGTON & Co's large Lumber Yard, on the West side of the River, between Oneida and Spring-sts. Altho' the night was still, the flames spread rapidly among the combustible material in the Yard, and nothing but the prompt and energetic efforts of the Fire Department prevented a serious conflagration. Our Firemen were on hand early and worked like good fellows. The fire was fairly checked by half-past one o'clock, but it was not until 5 P. M. that it was entirely extinguished. Refreshments were liberally provided by the Messrs. LUDINGTON at the "Home," the ever-ready proprietor cheerfully opening his doors to the weary Firemen. The amount of Lumber burned is not far from $600 worth, which is amply covered by insurance.—The fire was no doubt designedly set and the officers are on the track of the supposed incendiary.

First Ward Market.

Messrs. Editors:

The Market House in the 1st Ward has been opened, and many stalls are already taken, and being taken by the most neat and tidy Butchers in the City for the purpose of furnishing Hotel Keepers, Boarding Houses, and families, with meats and other "fixings" for daily use. Let us all therefore give them our patronage from this time forth.

We have only to walk in with our baskets, and can be furnished with every variety needed for daily use. AN OLD RESIDENT OF THE CITY.

THE DUST—THE SPRINKLER.—We were informed yesterday that we had done injustice to the owner of the Watering Machine, in throwing blame upon him for suspending operations, and leaving the street to the mercy of the dust. It was said that only a few of the merchants were willing to pay him for his labor, so few that his remuneration was insufficient, while the remainder were glad enough to have him perform the work, but refused to share the expense. If this be so, we advise him to mount his machine, and pass through the street at a given hour, laying the dust in front of the premises of his customers, and leaving the others dry, so that those who are obliged to trade in dusty stores may see who is to blame for it.

CRICKET MATCH WITH CHICAGO.—Our Milwaukee Cricket Club are anxious to "try conclusions" with the cricketers of Chicago. Will our brethren of the press, in Chicago, make known this fact and also state that Milwaukee challenges Chicago to a friendly trial of skill. CHARLESTON.—We find the following in the Milwaukee papers:

TO THE OWNERS OF CHICAGO JACK.

I will match my horse, Wisconsin, against Chicago Jack, mile heats best 3 in 5, to go in harness, on the Milwaukee Course, for one thousand dollars, according to the rules of said track —to go the first week in September.

The owners of "Chicago Jack," we learn, are ready to accept the above challenge, for any amount, to go the first week in October.—Chicago Journal.

SIGNS OF TIMES—MORE CHANGES.—The Cleveland Germania, a German paper, heretofore a firm supporter of Pierce & King, has now come out for Scott & Graham. The editor, is J. Schoenffer, late of the Zuschauer, or Erie Spectator, who has been all his life engaged in editing and publishing newspapers. He was proscribed, says the Cleveland Herald, a few years since in Europe, for his liberal principles, and condemned to imprisonment and his life endangered on an accusation of treason against the Government, and he was obliged to flee for safety to this land of refuge. We believe his paper will be among the best and ablest German papers in the Union, and do not doubt it will have, as it deserves, a large circulation and patronage.

GOV. SEWARD'S SPEECH.—Gov. Seward's speech on the exploring expedition to the North Pacific, &c., for the advancement of the Whale fishery has been published in pamphlet form, and members of Congress have subscribed for over 60,000 copies. It was a masterly effort, and adds much to the already high fame of Mr. Seward. It ought to be read by every one.—Free Democrat.

OBSERVANCE OF THE SABBATH.—To such a pitch has the desecration of the Sabbath been carried at Milwaukee, that 1400 citizens of that city have petitioned the Mayor to enforce the law requiring the observance of that day. We are rejoiced to see this manly step on the part of the people of Milwaukee. If people wish to dance, carouse and make merry, let them choose some other day. A christian land should not forget christian principles.—Green Bay Spectator.

The British Candidate, and the British Tariff.

An article in the London Times of July 6th, commenting on the nomination of General Scott, announces a very decided preference for Pierce, and closes with this very pregnant paragraph:

"In this respect (Tariff policy,) and on this point we take General Pierce to be a fair representative of the opinions of Mr. Calhoun, and, as such, a valuable practical ally to the commercial policy of this country." (Great Britain.

That is the talk boys. Pierce and the British Tariff, Pierce and British Workshops. Pierce and British commercial policy. The London Times is competent authority to speak for the British Workshops, and that paper defines Pierce's position.

When Sir. Henry Bulwer remarked that any enhancement of the rate of duties on British manufactures and iron by the American Congress would have "a very disagreeable effect on public opinion in England," he knew what he was about and the Democracy have taken him at his word. Their candidate is pledged not to commit this outrage "on public opinion in England," but to starve American workmen, and desolate American workshops rather than do anything so "disagreeable to British Manufacturers."

Huzza for Pierce and the British Tariff, since the London Times leads off in the patriotic cry!—Pitts. Jour.

Green Bay Items

From the Spectator

Green Bay and Two Rivers Plank Road.—We learn that something like $14,000 has been subscribed to the capital stock of this road and that the balance necessary for its completion can be obtained without difficulty in New York city.

It is not necessary for us to add to what we have heretofore said in reference to the importance of this route, further than to say, that when it is completed, a trip to Gotham can be accomplished inside of four days.

The Improvement certificates.—Seven thousand dollars of these Certificates, all that have been presented to the Governor, have been issued to White, Resley and Arndt, Contractors at the "Cedars." The Governor does not consider that it is his duty to run all over Madison after the Secretary of State's Deputy, to ascertain when he will have more certificates sealed and ready for delivery to the contractors.

Body Recovered.—The body of Captain McFadden, (whose death by drowning we noticed recently,) was found at Detroit Island on Thursday last. Notwithstanding it had remained in the water so long, the body was in a state of complete preservation.

[illegible]ERY CLAY.—A few years [illegible] owing account of [illegible] which he was very interesting passage at arms, [illegible] and John Q. Adams, between Henry Clay [illegible]sident, C. Calhoun, when the latter was Vice-Pres[illegible] and the presiding officer of the Senate, of which Mr. Clay was at the time a member. It occurred during one of the many famous tariff controversies in which they engaged during their senatorial careers. Clay had the floor; his audience had become a little wearied with the statistical and somewhat tedious arguments he had been pursuing, and failed to show the attention to which he was accustomed, when he occupied the floor.

He discovered this as soon as any one, but it was not his way to talk long to an inattentive audience. He paused a moment, long enough to attract the attention of the senators, while he very deliberately drew his snuff-box from his pocket, opened it, took from it daintily a pinch, and replaced it in his pocket. He then proceeded, very slowly, as follows:

Clay—snuffing—"I was happy to perceive, Mr. President—snuff—that in the remarks which have snuff—fallen from the chair—snuff—nothing has been said against the constitutionality of the tariff," laying great emphasis on the word constitutionality, and taking a long snuff at the close.

Calhoun—speaking with customary vehemence—"If the gentleman from Kentucky refers to anything that has fallen from the chair—the chair begs to inform the gentleman from Kentucky that he thinks the tariff decidedly unconstitutional."

Clay—"Alas! then, sir, I am reminded of "what, within those walls, I would gladly forget "—the mutability of all human opinion. It was "in 1816, I think, sir—it was in 1816, the chair "was the most eloquent champion of principles for "different from those it is now pleased to profess."

Calhoun—much excited—The chair begs to inform the gentleman from Kentucky that the constitutionality of the tariff was not discussed in "1816."

Clay—"True," said Mr. Clay, stretching up to his full height, and raising his voice till it rang through every arch in the capitol, at the same time directing his fiery gaze at the Vice-President.—"True, sir, the constitutionality of the tariff was "not discussed in 1816, for at that time no statesman could be found reckless enough to peril his "reputation by disputing it."—N. Y. Evening Post.

ROBBERY AND ARREST.—On Saturday evening a man giving the name of Foster, applied at the Racine Exchange for lodging. He stated that he had just returned from California, and made himself quite conspicuous during the evening, with loud blustering talk. On Sunday morning he left before any one else was up in the house. During the forenoon the officers were searching for him, on charge of stealing a gun from some one in the country. He was finally arrested about ten miles out, on the Milwaukee Road.—On searching him a pocket book was found, which had been taken from Judge Bassett, at the Exchange, containing notes to the amount of about $400. Mr. Bassett did not know of his loss until the officers came for him to identify the property. Foster (which is probably an alias) served the state of New York five years, in State Prison, and his prospects are very flattering of doing the same for Wisconsin.—Racine Commercial.

A CHANGE.—A Telegraphic despatch announces that H. K. Elkins Esq., of this City, has received the appointment of U. S. Marshall, of the District of Wisconsin, in the place of Capt. L. H. Cotton, resigned or removed. The causes of this change we have not learned, but they are not certainly assigned by the Democrat, for we know that those of Cotton and Mr. Elkins, are sterling both Ca[illegible] warm supporters of Gen. Scott for the Whigs, and [illegible] This attempt of the Democrat to create dissent[illegible]n among the Whigs, appears exceedingly foolish, when it is remembered, that Mr. Elmore himself, is a warm friend and supporter of Gen. Scott. Capt. Cotton has earned the reputation of being an efficient officer; and we have every confidence, that Mr. Elkins will discharge the duties of the office with ability and efficiency.—Kenosha Tribune.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—On Thursday of last week, Thomas McKay of Shullsburgh had his right elbow so badly shattered by the accidental discharge of a pistol, as to render the amputation of his arm necessary. He was riding in a buggy with the pistol in his pocket, when, from unknown cause, a discharge was produced, the ball passing through the joint at the elbow, tearing it in a shocking manner. Thus is a young man (only 16 years old) rendered a cripple for life.—Mineral Point Tribune.

aug12 JOHN OGDEN.

FOR SALE, or exchange for a good wood Horse, since, a friend gave us the use of which he was very interesting passage at arms, between Henry Clay and John Q. Adams, when the latter was Vice-President and the presiding officer of the Senate, of which Mr. Clay was at the time a member. It occurred during one of the many famous tariff controversies in which they engaged during their senatorial careers. Clay had the floor; his audience had become a little wearied with the statistical and somewhat tedious arguments he had been pursuing, and failed to show the attention to which he was accustomed, when he occupied the floor.

He discovered this as soon as any one, but it was not his way to talk long to an inattentive audience. He paused a moment, long enough to attract the attention of the senators, while he very deliberately drew his snuff-box from his pocket, opened it, took from it daintily a pinch, and replaced it in his pocket. He then proceeded, very slowly, as follows:

Clay—snuffing—"I was happy to perceive, Mr. President—snuff—that in the remarks which have snuff—fallen from the chair—snuff—nothing has been said against the constitutionality of the tariff," laying great emphasis on the word constitutionality, and taking a long snuff at the close.

Calhoun—speaking with customary vehemence—"If the gentleman from Kentucky refers to anything that has fallen from the chair—the chair begs to inform the gentleman from Kentucky that he thinks the tariff decidedly unconstitutional."

Clay—"Alas! then, sir, I am reminded of "what, within those walls, I would gladly forget "—the mutability of all human opinion. It was "in 1816, I think, sir—it was in 1816, the chair "was the most eloquent champion of principles for "different from those it is now pleased to profess."

Calhoun—much excited—The chair begs to inform the gentleman from Kentucky that the constitutionality of the tariff was not discussed in "1816."

Clay—"True," said Mr. Clay, stretching up to his full height, and raising his voice till it rang through every arch in the capitol, at the same time directing his fiery gaze at the Vice-President.—"True, sir, the constitutionality of the tariff was "not discussed in 1816, for at that time no statesman could be found reckless enough to peril his "reputation by disputing it."—N. Y. Evening Post.

ROBBERY AND ARREST.—On Saturday evening a man giving the name of Foster, applied at the Racine Exchange for lodging. He stated that he had just returned from California, and made himself quite conspicuous during the evening, with loud blustering talk. On Sunday morning he left before any one else was up in the house. During the forenoon the officers were searching for him, on charge of stealing a gun from some one in the country. He was finally arrested about ten miles out, on the Milwaukee Road.—On searching him a pocket book was found, which had been taken from Judge Bassett, at the Exchange, containing notes to the amount of about $400. Mr. Bassett did not know of his loss until the officers came for him to identify the property. Foster (which is probably an alias) served the state of New York five years, in State Prison, and his prospects are very flattering of doing the same for Wisconsin.—Racine Commercial.

A CHANGE.—A Telegraphic despatch announces that H. K. Elkins Esq., of this City, has received the appointment of U. S. Marshall, of the District of Wisconsin, in the place of Capt. L. H. Cotton, resigned or removed. The causes of this change we have not learned, but they are not certainly assigned by the Democrat, for we know that those of Cotton and Mr. Elkins, are sterling both Ca[illegible] warm supporters of Gen. Scott for the Whigs, and[illegible] This attempt of the Democrat to create dissent[illegible]n among the Whigs, appears exceedingly foolish, when it is remembered, that Mr. Elmore himself, is a warm friend and supporter of Gen. Scott. Capt. Cotton has earned the reputation of being an efficient officer; and we have every confidence, that Mr. Elkins will discharge the duties of the office with ability and efficiency.—Kenosha Tribune.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—On Thursday of last week, Thomas McKay of Shullsburgh had his right elbow so badly shattered by the accidental discharge of a pistol, as to render the amputation of his arm necessary. He was riding in a buggy with the pistol in his pocket, when, from unknown cause, a discharge was produced, the ball passing through the joint at the elbow, tearing it in a shocking manner. Thus is a young man (only 16 years old) rendered a cripple for life.—Mineral Point Tribune.

THE TRIBUNE.
SCOTT Leads the Column!—Forward!
"Now, brothers, now is the hour!"

THE publishers of THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE proffer copies of their regular and full Weekly issue (eight large pages, each six columns, of Literature, Politics and News) for the remainder of the Presidential Campaign, commencing with the 7th of August and closing with Nov. 25th, when we confidently hope to announce their triumph,—on the following terms:—

6 copies, to one address	2 00
10 copies do do	3 00
25 copies do do	7 50

Payment in all cases to accompany the order.

The selection of WINFIELD SCOTT for President and WILLIAM A. GRAHAM for Vice-President, has realized our ardent wishes and strengthened our earnest hopes. Our conviction has long been fixed that Gen. Scott is the very man fitted and marked out by his heroic achievements—his invaluable services, at critical periods, in preserving our National tranquillity and preventing the effusion of blood—by his unquestioned integrity, his self devoting patriotism, his unsectional position and his humanity—to unite the Whig Masses in one enthusiastic, irresistible host and lead them on to victory. So believing, we have labored and hoped for his nomination, and we now confidently look to the result to justify our sanguine anticipations.

THE TRIBUNE, standing on its own Platform and knowing no other authority but truth, will do its utmost for the election of SCOTT and GRAHAM; but it will not be absorbing to Political discussion. We have chosen to prefer Campaign subscribers a large sheet rather than a small and cheaper one, because the people, we believe, like size, and because we wish to spread the knowledge of what THE TRIBUNE; habitually is. The letters of our Associate, BAYARD TAYLOR, who next writes us from Syria, the ruins of Ninyeh, Constantinople, &c., will appear every week, with letters of new Books, Proceedings of Congress, and the general Foreign and Domestic News of the day. If there is another Journal in New York, or elsewhere, more interesting than THE TRIBUNE, it is not because more money or labor is spent thereon.

All the Editions of THE TRIBUNE are printed in large Quarto form, on a sheet 31 by 42 inches, showing eight large and compact pages of readable matter. About half the Daily is devoted to Advertisements, very few of which appear in our other issues. No one desiring to study the World contains more reading matter than THE TRIBUNE, which is afforded at $8 per annum, or $1½ for three months.

SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE:
One copy (per annum) $3; Two do. $5; Ten do. $20.

WEEKLY TRIBUNE:

Subscriptions for THE DAILY, SEMI-WEEKLY, or either of our regular issues, are respectfully solicited. All notes of specie paying banks taken at par and may be remitted at our risk. Please address

THE WORLD'S FAIR PREMIUM SAFES.
DEPOT,
Green Block, Water St.,
(Between Maiden Lane and Wall Street.)
NEW YORK.

THE SUBSCRIBER PLACED HIS FIRE AND BURGLAR-Proof Iron Safe in competition with the whole world at the great Exhibition in London, for which an impartial jury awarded a medal.

The American Fair, held last fall at Castle Garden, also awarded to him a gold medal for his best Fire-proof safe, and he has never failed to obtain the highest premium when his Safe has been put in competition with others for that purpose. Certificates have been received from the following well-known mercantile houses, who have had their books, papers and money preserved in these superior Safes within the last thirty days, (and can, with many others, be seen at my store,) viz. Messrs. Stillwell & Montrose, and Mr. J. L. Watkins, in the Fulton Street fire; Messrs. Fisher & Robinson, and Messrs. John Lockwood & Co., in the great fire corner of Liberty and Nassau Streets, and Messrs. Proud & Bowman, in Jersey City.

I am the proprietor of HALLS PATENT LOCK, which obtained a medal (in the name of Adams & Co., Boston,) at the World's Exhibition, and is considered the best Lock for the price, ever invented, being proof against powder, and the Key is no larger than a twist, and can be made changeable.

I invite all purchasers to a close and careful investigation before purchasing, and decide for themselves, who makes the best Fire, Burglar and Damp-Proof Safes combined.
